One of the most difficult challenges Jesus gave us is to be the salt and light of the Earth. This is tough because so much of what we see in and around the world today makes us want to withdraw. Many Christians find themselves confronted by the hostile environment that awaits them outside their front door.

Our faith is under attack like never before. When people begin to question such basic truths as the Biblical view of marriage and the fundamental structure of the family unit, it is most people's gut reaction to say, "I'm out of here." The challenge in Christ's command is that it calls us to go into uncomfortable places and do uncomfortable things. You can't change a world you are not in. It doesn't matter how perfect it is inside the church doors if the world outside is going to Hell.

Making an impact in the world isn't as grandiose as it may seem. It can be broken down to three basic steps that all of us can accomplish in our own daily walk, regardless of our occupation or socioeconomic status.

We call this the "Recipe For An Impactful Christian." Integrated properly into your daily routine, in time these steps will become second nature.

Be the example of Christ in our world.

On the surface this may sound rather daunting, however it is more about managing our own behavior than it is about managing the behavior of others. We must not meet anger, unkindness and rudeness with like behavior. Jesus changed many hearts simply by being kind and patient. Most people in our world today are pleasantly shocked when they encounter someone who is courteous, respectful, and gentle with their tone. You will find more opportunities to share your faith with others by emulating the One whom you wish to share. Your goal is to make others want to understand why you are different.

Know your faith.

Read your Bible. Don't take anyone's word for it. Read the Bible yourself and pair it with other solid resources that will help you understand God's Word. This is where your faith grows and your understanding of God deepens. This is also where you discover what His perfect will is for your life. Psalm 119:105 (NIV) says, "Your Word is a lamp unto my feet and a light unto my path." How can you know God's will for your life when you don't even know what He says in His book? We get optimal results when we read the ultimate owner's manual!

Do God's will.

Application of the Scriptures you study will result in your doing God's will. We don't just study the Scriptures for entertainment. It is to gain an understanding of how God wants us to further His kingdom here on Earth. By making a conscious effort to do God's will within our own homes and places of business, before long our cities and our country will begin to radically change.

The simple act of doing God's will in your own life can lead to great impact in the world around you.

Do you want to see a change in your world and make an impact? Follow these three steps and you will be following in HIS steps! ✦
